

The Distinct Advantages of Owning a Residence on The World Versus a Traditional Yacht

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA – Thrilling global exploration and enrichment, being part of an exclusive community of 200 like-minded adventure seekers, and a matchless lifestyle that eliminates many yacht ownership challenges define the degrees of difference between purchasing a private Residence on The World, the largest privately owned residential yacht on earth, and mega-yachts appealing to a sophisticated and affluent audience.

Ownership Advantages Abound

For those looking to purchase a yacht to travel around the world, this 644-ft / 196-m Ship is the perfect alternative to individual yacht ownership, offering unsurpassed services and facilities one could not achieve on their own. Common yacht ownership challenges are eliminated with services such as turnkey staffing and logistics and itinerary planning to destinations all over the world – all with outstanding personalized service. Other advantages include reduced costs, since fees associated with maintaining extravagant super yachts are typically overlooked, particularly with respect to general upkeep and fuel, crew and guests, and berthing and dockage.

Yacht Costs Compared to The World

The World offers one-of-a-kind experiences to remote, exotic and well-known locales around the globe, that although possible for a private yacht, would likely be cost prohibitive and inefficient based on logistics, security considerations, and fuel and other transportation expenses. Typically, maintenance and fuel account for nearly 50 percent of all annual expenditures. Additionally, the number of staff required for a yacht (beyond the captain and chief engineer) increases with the size of the vessel and can include the captain's mate, bosun, deckhands, stewards and engineers. Therefore, an expanded staff means higher monthly and annual expenditures. Costs tend to rise as guests stay on board and utilize the yacht's services.

Docking and moorage fees are also a consideration. Costs fluctuate based on the number of days the vessel is transient at a location other than its permanent moorage. In addition, few marinas offer permanent docking for these elaborate craft.

The World provides a more cost-efficient opportunity allowing Residents to be free of the hassles of yacht ownership so their time can be better spent discovering the rewarding lifestyle of circumnavigating the planet, the unparalleled cultural experiences, and the deep and enriching sense of community Residents develop with fellow Residents.

Annual Maintenance Fees for The World

A yachtsman's annual bill is in stark contrast to that of The World's Residents where the cost structure is more streamlined. Beyond the initial outlay for a Residence, there are annual ownership fees based on the Residence's square footage. These fees include a Resident's share of Ship preservation, operations, and crew compensation.
